POLICE NEWS

Mayor Kaps, in police court this morning, after doing Beale Fraxler and Edna Hunter $25 each on a charge of loitering, said that they must get a job and go to work or else get out of town. The two young women, who said they live at 1023 Chillicothe street, were taken into custody when an officer caught them loitering about Tracy Park.

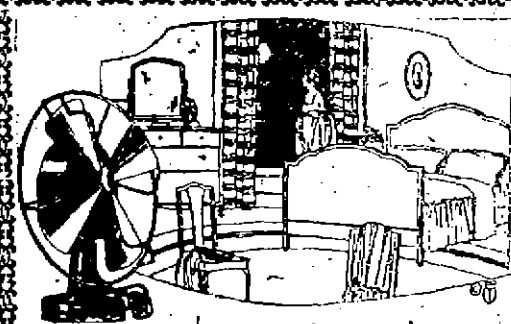

Mary McConico, colored woman of Kinney street, was convicted in police court this morning on a charge of harboring a vicious dog, and Mayor Kaps fined her $20 and gave her the alternative of paying the fine or producing the dog, which has disappeared since some trouble came up over the canine biting a boy named Perry Schiele. The woman was given 24 hours to turn the dog over to an officer.

TROOPS PATROL CHICAGO STREETS

The troops on last night on request of Mayor William Hale Thompson, after the darkness had brought renewed rioting and the city's 2,000 policemen found themselves exhausted.

The first, second and third reserve units and the tenth and eleventh Illinois Infantry were sent on duty by Adjutant General Dickson, while the Ninth Regiment remained in reserve at the stock yards and the fourth reserves on the west side.

MAYOR ASKS FOR TROOPS

The soldiers were called out by Governor Lowden at the request of Mayor Thompson for the protection of life and property threatened by the race war which for four days has terrorized the city.

The state troops established a barred zone about three miles square embracing most of the colored residential districts on the South Side. In this zone they searched every person whom they met for weapons.

No one could pass in or out without military permission. The district extended roughly from Twenty-second street to Fifty-fifth street north and south and from Michigan boulevard to Westworth avenue east and west.

This happened when riots in the colored district itself had somewhat subsided but when there was an alarming spread of the disturbances outside. The New York Central Railroad officials reported all their trains being fired on.

SOLDIERS HAD TO FIGHT

Fighting kept up after the troops reached their stations shortly before midnight and one squad of soldiers had to fight a crowd of negroes to reach their station at Forty-first street and Wabash avenue, while other soldiers were fired on from ambush on the way to duty. No soldier was killed or wounded and after the troops had taken their places disorders died down within the region patrolled.

As each regiment reached its headquarters, the men were split into patrols of eight, who were sent out under non-commissioned officers to see that order was preserved. Even the transient negroes for the most part refrained from fighting the soldiers, and by 2 o'clock in the morning all was quiet in the troop guarded territory.

The most serious riot of the night took place at Fifty-third and State streets, where 20 policemen fought nearly two hours a crowd of negroes, firing several hundred shots before the rioters were subdued and 45 of them arrested. It was only after the patrolmen had chopped their way into some of the buildings and seized a dozen snipers with their rifles and 500 cartridges that the fighting ceased.

MANY HEADS CRACKED

Although many heads were cracked, on the police charged the hardened negroes, all the riot die resulted in the injury of only one person, Patrolman Emil Johnson, driver of a patrol wagon.

Before the troops had all been assigned, there were some minor clashes with roughs, however, the first melee occurring in front of the shop base for the motor transport corps at Fifty-first street and Wabash avenue. Nine negroes, armed with revolvers, drove back and forth in front of the base, firing promiscuously but hitting no one.

A squad of soldiers soon came up and gave chase, capturing the negroes after firing several shots at them.

Major Macey, in command of six companies of the first reserves, and a platoon of his men were fired on by snipers at Fifty-fifth street and State avenue. None of the soldiers were hit, and when they scattered and sought their assailants, the latter disappeared.

While the soldiers were taking their positions, a crowd of whites surrounded the home of John Coles, a negro policeman, in Englewood, and rained bullets on him and his wife. The house was severely damaged before police men came to the rescue.

INTERFERE WITH MAIL
Interference with the United States mails has carried the riot situation through official channels to Washington. Federal officials hinted today that troops would be asked to surround the post office, affording protection of employees of both races and guarding delivery of mail.

Failure of 1,000 chauffeurs, carriers and clerks to report for duty yesterday was declared by Postmaster Cullis to constitute interference with the mails. The interference was reported to Postmaster General Burleson.

Plans for the collection and preservation of evidence for the prosecution of those guilty of murder and assault in the riots have been practically completed by Attorney General E. J. Duggan, and State's Attorney MacFarlane, who were in conference early today.

WILL PROSECUTE THEM
The state's attorney and I will immediately send detectives and investigators out to obtain evidence against some of these men who take human life so freely," Mr. Duggan said. "We expect to send some of them to the penitentiary."

Samuel G. McCort, colored, who told the police he was 102 years old, probably was the oldest person picked up by the police as a suspect in the round-up of rioters. He was disarmed of a loaded revolver and warned to go to his home.

A white woman dressed in man's clothing, and carrying a pistol, was arrested. She told the police she was on her way to a railroad station and had donned male attire through fear of rioters.

Leaders among the negroes of Chicago met last night in an effort to discover the real causes of the race riots and to devise means of ending the disorders.

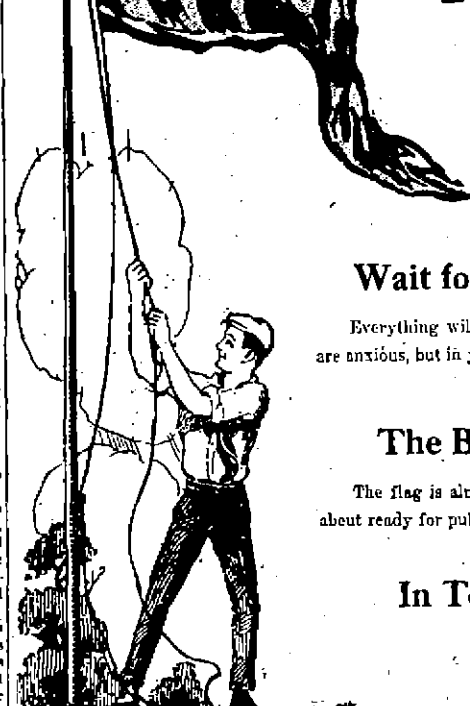

Resolutions were adopted advising negroes to be the first to cease acts of violence and asserting that nothing but civil could result from attempts to seek vengeance for grievances, real or fancied.

With the coming of daylight, it was discovered that rioters in a number of streets on the south side, had stretched steel cables across the pavements with the evident intention of preventing the fire department from answering alarms and perhaps wrecking the apparatus.

There were a number of fires in houses occupied by negroes, during the early morning hours. The police believe the fires were started by white rioters.

Additional Statistics On Mayor's Office Furnished By Examiner

The following is the sixth installment of the examiner's report concerning the Mayor's office. Other installments will appear in the Times from day to day.

Both the mayor and chief of police knew of the Appellate Court decision, as the mayor not only received the circular of the Bureau of Taxation bearing date of September 19, 1917, but also, they were so informed the county auditor and clerk of courts by their refusal to pay the chief of police under the provisions of Section 3016 and 3019, General Code. There was a similar excuse for the open and continued violation of the law as interpreted by the court in its decision of May 8, 1917. A failure to honor the law would result in embarrassment that will not be relieved.

COSTS IN STATE CASES.

The costs assessed in state cases, except felonies, have invariably been divided, mayor $2.00, chief $1.80. We believe that the records will not show to exceed one-half dozen cases during the period availed wherein the costs assessed have been other than as above set forth. The costs are not levied on the margin of the ticket and where the clerk was requested to divide the costs as to produce $2.00 for the mayor and $1.80 for the chief he was unable to do so. The mayor in assessing costs should assess only such fees as are provided by statute and in no case should costs be assessed where no service is rendered. It is not reasonable to presume that there would be a uniformity of service rendered in all cases where under the law there would be a uniformity in the aggregate costs assessed.

Under the provisions of Section 12016, General Code, heretofore quoted, if a mayor becomes liable for a fine and imprisonment, as well as a forfeited bond, he is charged and collects costs that are not permitted by law.

COSTS IN ORDINANCE CASES.

Costs assessed from the records that the mayor assessed no costs in ordinance cases.

Section 4355, General Code, provides:

"The costs of the mayor and other officers, in all cases, shall be fixed by ordinance, but in no case greater than fees for similar services before a court of justice."

"The court in passing upon the question held in Bellefontaine vs. Haviland, 10 Ohio 242, an ordinance is passed fixing the fees, the mayor is not entitled to charge."

January 27, 1911, the council passed ordinance No. 1,600, which provides:

"Section 1: That in all cases prosecuted before the mayor for violation of any city ordinance all costs shall be fixed by the mayor as costs are fixed by justices of the peace in like cases."

The above ordinance has never been repealed and has been in effect since February 10, 1911.

Under said ordinance the fees or costs to be assessed would be such as are provided in Sections 1146 and 2347, General Code, for justices of the peace and constables, the same being fixed for similar services rendered. While we believe that under the provisions of Section 4355, General Code, the council should have specifically fixed the fees of the mayor and chief of police in ordinance cases.

THE ROAD TO HEALTH IS YOUR BLOOD

You Are Just As Weak As Your Blood Is Weak
You Are No Stronger Than Your Blood Strength

So Says Doctor L. F. VanAmberg, Chronic

Disease Specialist, Rooms 28, 29, 39

Turley Bldg., Portsmouth, Ohio

During the past two years that I have been treating Chronic diseases in Portsmouth, blood tests made show that fully 90 patients out of every 100 have low blood vitality; tests ranging from 50 to 90—the average being 75. Practically every patient has taken some kind of treatment to purify and strengthen their blood.

The diseases from which these patients suffered were Catarrh of Nose, Throat and Bronchial Tubes, Stomach, Liver and Intestinal Diseases, High Blood Pressure, Partial Paralysis, Ulcers, Glandular Diseases AND OTHERS NOT TO BE MENTIONED.

Why were these patients still suffering from their unremoved ailments? Because the real cause of their sickness had not been removed; treatment they had taken did not remove the cause of blood destruction.

To purify the blood and make it as perfect as possible must be the basis of all treatment. With many this can be done. However, some there are who by neglect or improper treatment have passed beyond the stage of a return to health.

Doctor VanAmberg treats all Chronic Diseases of Men, Women and Children. He is a graduate physician of the Regular Medical College of the University of Michigan, located at Ann Arbor and has had 34 years experience in his chosen profession.

IF YOU ARE AFFECTED WITH ANY CHRONIC AILMENT—NO MATTER HOW LONG STANDING OR HOW MANY TIMES YOU MAY HAVE TRIED IN VAIN TO REGAIN YOUR HEALTH, YOU SHOULD NOT MISS THIS OPPORTUNITY OF GIVING DOCTOR VANAMBERG'S METHOD OF TREATING DISEASES THROUGH THE BLOOD A TRIAL. It may be the means of starting you on the road to health and happiness.

Hours 9 to 12 and 1 to 5 and 7 to 9 P. M. No Sunday Hour

In no case to exceed those fixed by statute for justice's courts, yet we are of the opinion that the ordinance is valid inasmuch as the fees are made the same as before justices of the peace for similar services and do not exceed the same.

It is the bounden duty of the mayor to assess costs in ordinance cases for actual services rendered, especially so when there is an ordinance of council so providing. Henceforth the officers will be held for all losses according to the city treasury through neglect to assess costs such as are provided by ordinance and findings accordingly will be made.

The interests of the city should be protected in that those who violate its laws should be made to reimburse the city for the services caused to be rendered by its mayor and chief of police on account of their violation of its laws.

The holding of the Appellate Court of Cuyahoga County, heretofore referred to, does not apply to the assessing of chief's costs in ordinance cases as such costs under ordinance and statute are definitely fixed.

WITNESS FEES.

While the records of the mayor indicate in sundry instances witness fees were assessed yet, it will be noted from the preceding financial statements, that $11.00 of such fees were collected from defendants, the same being paid direct to claimants by the mayor's court.

Witness fees assessed and collected should be deposited in the city treasury in ordinance cases, and in the county treasury in statute cases, by the presiding officer of the court.

Section 4355, General Code, provides:

"In cases for the violation of ordinances, the fees of witnesses and jurors shall be paid on the certification of the officer presiding at the trial from the corporation treasury, and in state cases on like certification from the county treasury."

The witness fees paid by defendants in the mayor's court should be deposited either in the city of county treasury, as the case may be, and paid to witnesses through warrant of the city or county auditor on the certificate of the mayor showing the amount due each witness. In no instances should the mayor pay witnesses direct.

Witnesses appearing in the mayor's court are entitled to their fees, whether or not the amount of the fees are paid by the defendants. When such fees are not collected from defendants the presiding officer of the court should certify the same to the city or county auditor and the witnesses, under Section 4355, General Code, above quoted, should be paid from either the city or county treasury as the case may be.

CASH BAIL IN LIEU OF RECOGNIZANCE.

It was noted in the audit that in numerous instances "cash bail" was accepted, in lieu of bond, for the appearance of prisoners in the mayor's court.

The Attorney General in an opinion under date of June 29, 1906, states:

"I have been unable to find any authority for the acceptance of 'cash bail' by the mayor or the judge of the police court or by any municipal authority. If such bail be accepted, the transaction is illegal and void and should there be any irregularity in the arrest of the defendant, he would be entitled to recover the amount of money so paid by him."

In the case of Reichard vs. City of Columbus, as found in 40 O. S., 227, the Supreme Court held:

"It is illegal unauthorized by statute, for a police officer or magistrate to receive money in lieu of bail for the appearance of a person accused of a criminal offense."

The Supreme Court rendered a similar decision in Columbus vs. Demplek, 41 O. S., 302.

Under no circumstances, except in the instances below noted, should "cash bail" be accepted for the appearance of a defendant in the mayor's court; a proper recognizance should be given or else the party incarcerated in the city prison.

The practice in regard to the mayor's court relative to the acceptance of money as bail, should be immediately discontinued as the result of its continuance may sometime be embarrassing to the officials accepting such bail.

It is clear from the decision of the Supreme Court, the opinion of the Attorney General, and the law cited by him, that there is absolutely no authority in law for the acceptance of "cash bail." There should be a strict observance of the requirements of the law as touching this matter.

The only instances in which "cash bail" may be legally accepted are those in which there is a violation of the motor vehicle and bicycle laws, under Sections 12603 to 12605, inclusive; Sections 12620 and 12631 containing the specific authority for the acceptance of "cash bail" in such cases. We know of no other statutes whereby a magistrate or a police officer is authorized to accept money for the appearance of a prisoner in the mayor's court.

Reference to Sections 13304, 13307 and 13308, General Code, will indicate the law relative to the kind of recognizance or bail to be taken for the appearance of defendants in the mayor's court.

SECURITY FOR COSTS.

Under the provisions of Section 13400, General Code, the mayor, when the offense charged is a misdemeanor, may require the complainant, or if he considers the complainant irresponsible, may require that he procure a person to become liable for the costs if the complaint is dismissed, and the complainant, or any other person shall acknowledge himself so liable and the mayor shall enter such acknowledgment on his docket this applying except when the complainant is an official of the court.

We believe that if the above law is fully observed it will have the effect of relieving the mayor's court of cases that would otherwise be filed wherein the charges are frivolous or unsupportable.

Nothing like Plain Bipro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making the people fleshy, developing arms, back and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curves of lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who feel their existence is a failure.

Thinness and weakness are often due to starved nerves. Our bodies are made of muscle and bone, and muscle and bone are made of phosphorus. Bipro-Phosphate is a complete food, and it is sold by Fisher & Streich Pharmacy in Portsmouth under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphorus food elements, Bipro-Phosphate should produce a welcome transformation in the appearance: the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

Increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, should soon disappear. Full eyes ought to brighten, and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health. Miss Georgia Hamilton, who was once thin and frail, reporting her own experience, writes: "Bipro-Phosphate has brought about a magic transformation in me. I gained 11 pounds and never before felt so well."

CAUTION: Although Bipro-Phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, it should not be given to its tendency to increase weight be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.

Protect Yourself--Build Now, at Once!

We may be able to give you some real advice if you will but call around. We are working hard for a greater Portsmouth, and the first thing needed is more houses—1000 of them at least. Come in—let's talk it over.

A Pile of Rent Receipts

They simply say you pay your rent? More than that—the landlord adds up the totals of your pile of rent receipts and chuckles as he finds out how much you have paid him for the privilege of living.

For years and years you have been paying out your hard earned money in rentals—each month you hand over a nice sum to the landlord who waxes fat while you grow lean. Don't think for a minute the landlord is allowing you to get by without receiving a nice interest on his investment. Why, as values increase the landlord lays on heavier, and after a while you will begin to realize it is a whole lot cheaper to build than to pay rent.

You have been paying rent—let's say for the past fifteen years. In that length of time we will say for argument's sake that you have been paying on an average of $25 per month. That makes $300 per year or $4500 for the fifteen years. And what is it you have to show for that $4500? A PILE OF RENT RECEIPTS. Had you built 15 years ago, the chances are you would now own your own home and it would be worth twice what you had put into it. In other words, a $4500 home fifteen years ago would not only be your very own, but it would have been worth $9000 at least—and you would have been worth that much more than you are to-day—enough, perhaps, to keep you in comfort for the rest of your days. But you are not because you thought values would deteriorate—so did a lot of others. But they didn't—on the other hand they doubled. AND THEY LOST OUT.

But It Isn't Too Late

Buy a lot and build now—for building material will be higher next year and it will cost you from $250 to $500 more to build next year. Your property is bound to enhance in value—it may double within the next five years. It surely will if there are not more houses erected, for while there is a great demand for houses in Portsmouth now, that demand will be trebled within another year and then watch out for values to go soaring—then watch the landlords chuckle as they pile on additional burden—maybe on you—and you'll pay or get out.

Protect Yourself--Build Now, at Once!

Charlie Chaplin
in

Charlie Chaplin in "Sunnyside." His Latest Three Reel Million Dollar Comedy at the Columbia Tonight, Tomorrow and Saturday with "Rowdy Ann," a Special Two Reel Christie Comedy

Charlie Chaplin "expresses himself" in the new aesthetic dances which are quite the thing in the most artistic circles in "Sunnyside," his third million dollar picture released by First National, which will be shown at the Columbia tonight, tomorrow and Saturday. The manner in which Charlie gets in with a group of beautiful and scantily draped young girls which are engaged in this sort of dance is Chaplin's specialty.

Such a thing as riding a cow is almost never attempted in the country even by the boy and girl who take the cows out to pasture and bring them back at night. But Charlie attempts this when he tries to induce a cow to leave the church in which this bossy has been breaking up meeting.

Landing in a ditch on his head, the little comedian goes into a state of coma wherein he sees things. While these are imaginary to him on the screen they seem real enough and the sight of Charlie burlesquing the serious of dance which St. Denis and Heffman, and other less famous give, surrounded by beautiful young girls here of him, furnishes a most entertaining combination.

After this little advertisement Charlie settles down to his real problem in the picture, that of saving the love of his rural sweetheart from being stolen by a "city dink" who appears in the community with a fine automobile.

make this an unusually entertaining picture that you'll like. The second attraction on tomorrow's bill will be Tom Mix in a screaming Western, Fox two reel comedy called "A Roman Cowboy." In addition to these good pictures we will also show for today, one day only, 20 slide views of the

Monroe Salisbury —the Mansfield of the Screen, in— "THE BLINDING TRAIL"

A Mighty Picture of the Frozen North
Monroe Salisbury at the Exhibit Tomorrow and Saturday in his latest Universal Picture "The Blinding Trail"—A Mighty Drama of the Frozen North. Also Sunning Comedy

The breath of the Northwoods and the sting of the snow are in "The Blinding Trail," the drama of outdoor life with its tremendous conflicts of passion, which brings Monroe Salisbury more to the Exhibit Theatre tomorrow and Saturday in what is declared to be the most vital role of his career. Salisbury is Jim McKenzie, a high-spirited, big-hearted lumber camp boss in this, his newest picture, "The Blinding Trail." It is the story of a great-hearted man who blinded in rescuing the daughter of his millionaire lumberman employer in a logjam accident, is involved into marrying her. She is a superficial creature of the cities who finds in Salisbury her hero. But her cousin adds goes in the big lumberman something greater—for she has the qualities that were meant to mate with him. How the working of this triangle is worked out forms the dramatic entry of the play which reaches a terrific climax in a battle between the blind McKenzie and the man who has won the unstable affection of his wife. This is an unusually gripping picture with a background of beautiful snow scene. See it, "Hungry Lions in a Hoopland," a two reel Sunning comedy will also be on the bill.

In this picture Walsh has the role of Reginald Jones, whose blood was always working overtime, always tagging at his heels, whether he was playing poker, getting married or hunting for treasure, and his many unlucky adventures all go to

"Poor Boob"
A Paramount Picture
FINELY SUPPORTED
IN "POOR BOOB" FILM
Theodore Roberts, Wanda Hawley
and Other Famous Players
Are in the Cast

Regular patrons of the photoplays—a class that comprises practically every person in every community, will find an aggregation of familiar players at the Lyric Theatre tonight, only, appearing in "Poor Boob," Bryant Washburn's latest Paramount picture. Everyone in the cast of this splendid photoplay, which is adapted from the original stage comedy of Margaret Mayo, is well known through his work in previous Paramount and Artercraft pictures.

Leading in support of Mr. Washburn is Wanda Hawley, known everywhere through her excellent work in many previous releases, notably in the Artercraft picture produced by Cecil B. De Mille, "We Can't Have Everything." She has the role of the plucky stenographer, whose quick wit is mainly responsible for the success of the hero, a young man who is believed to be a failure, but who comes out on top after all.

Theodore Roberts, probably the best character actor on the screen, plays Matt, the owner of the factory in which the hero works. The role of Douglas, a worthless schemer, is handled by Raymond Hatton, whose work in Artercraft pictures is well known.

PAULINE FREDERICK
"Paid in Full"
A Paramount Picture
BIG STAGE SUCCESS
At the Lyric Theatre Tomorrow and Saturday

When Eugene Walter's play, "Paid in Full," was produced by Ugo Bressi & Kuper in New York in 1907, it created a great sensation. Its reception by the public was phenomenal, and after running a season or more, it was played simultaneously by several companies on tour. This play has been pictured by Paramount for Pauline Frederick, and it will be displayed at the Lyric Theatre tomorrow and Saturday.

Miss Frederick has the role of the patient wife of a shiftless clerk, whose non-progressive attitude keeps him in constant poverty. When he commits a theft the husband does not hesitate to send his wife to the man he has despised, caring little whether she sacrifices her honor to save him from jail. But she finally adjusts the matter, and when she quits him forever, he betrays his cowardice by committing suicide. And the wife ultimately finds happiness in the love of a worthy man.

The support is excellent and the cast includes Robert Cain, Wynne Humphreys, Frank Foster, June Farrell and Vera Beresford. The picture was directed by Emilio Chantard.

THE MATTER OF ARMY STORES

THE lower house of congress has passed a resolution that Secretary Baker proceed to sell at once the reserve of army food stuffs.

It is perfectly proper for congress to take such action, but it should be done in a proper manner and not made the pretext for ill-considered partisan attacks upon that official for not having already disposed of the surplus.

It is also perfectly proper for Secretary Baker to disregard the resolution, if he so chooses. That he will do it if he considers disposal in the time and the manner as set by his critics. For to dump the whole of the stores at once and by parcel post direct to the consumer is conjuring disaster and next to an impossible absurdity. The two will not work out together. The first would mean a panic and the latter would mean indefinite delay and a huge loss. By far the major portion of the food stuffs are in France. It would have been folly to have begun selling them until it became a fixed fact that peace was to follow the armistice. If they are to be disposed of in this country they will have to be brought back, and that will take months yet. It doesn't require any knowledge of economics to understand that if the whole lot were dumped on the markets at once there would be more harm than good done. Equally clear is it that to sell directly to the consumer means an infinity of detail and preparation that will be long in working out.

Putting it up to Secretary Baker to follow the resolution and in the same breath finding fault with him for not having already let go of the food reserves is good partisan stuff. If he dumps them out all at once, and thereby causes a heavy decline, dealers and farmers, along with those who go broke will blame him for their losses; if he doesn't why then who but he is responsible for the high cost of living. So far as the majority is concerned it is a game of "heads I win, tails you lose."

SOMETHING OF A CONTRAST

HERE are few remaining newspapers so intolerant in opinions of section and parties as the Chicago Tribune. Just now Chicago has gone "Democratic" according to the habitual preaching heretofore of the Tribune. In other words there is the color line being drawn sharply and murderously. Disorder and riot reign over the entire city and already approaching thirty killings have followed clashes between the whites and the Negroes. Therefore it is interesting to watch the course of the Tribune just now. It is sipping mighty low and if the subject were not so grave we would say it is playing a comical part. On its first page it submerges the killing of twenty-five grown persons, with huge across-the-page scream over the murder of a little girl by a degenerate. On its editorial page the first article ferociously and relentlessly calls for the immediate and forthwith hanging of the child's murderer. In the second it refers in the most dulcet words to the fact that "the white and colored people are not living in harmony." Never a mention of killings, no denunciation of the mob spirit, no exhortation of cowardly and consenting officials, no demand that the murderers be made to pay for their foul and Swedish crimes—and in Chicago a mob did try to burn up the body of a murdered Negro by saturating it with gasoline and setting fire to the fluid. Instead of any of this there is the sweetest intimation that theories of equality and questions of justice are confounded by a fact and a condition and if the races can not get along in peace on the bathing beaches and street cars there will have to be separate beaches and different modes of transportation. In other words, the blacks will have to take what swimmin' hole the whites choose to allow them and as the whites will take the street cars, and accommodation trains, the blacks may ride Shanks' mare and may be a jumpy, if they are altogether good.

Oh, no; we are not going to moralize. What's the use!

PLENTY OF Pelf, NO POLITENESS

CONCEIVING, perhaps, from some of its recent financial transactions, that the country is long on cash and knowing itself short on manners, the senate majority is unanimous in agreement that America shall pay Colombia twenty-five million dollars for fomenting the revolution that robbed her of Panama, and is also equally determined that the apology in the treaty, fixing the indemnity shall be eliminated.

May be Colombia is like the victim of any other highwayman. She feels that whatever she can get back is that gained and she will not hesitate to accept the paltry twenty-five millions. And really payment of an indemnity is, in effect, an apology, since it is a humiliating confession of a gross wrong done.

Yes, it would have made a mighty difference had the Reds won two on Tuesday and the Giants lost as many, but it didn't happen that way, and seldom does when a second placer is trying to overtake a first.

You can't always judge a man by what someone else says about him. Victor Berger says Samuel Gompers has for sometime been a tool of the capitalists. That's awful, too, but Gompers has survived worse, considering the source.

There are mobs and mobs, but our nominee for the total depravity sweepstakes is the Chicago one, which stormed a hospital because a Negro it had beaten near to death, was taken there.

The amiable nature of the dear Mr. Taft must have been a bit ruffled by the cheap party friend, who gave away a letter he had written him in entire confidence so stated and enjoined.

It was fine in Governor Lowden to call those eight thousand troops to Chicago but why does he let them stand still while riot and murder go busily on?

It never gets so hot, but that it can get cooler, as witness Wednesday.

THE WISHING PLANE

When their stay in London was over the airplane, whisked the children over to Liverpool, the great English seaport where thousands upon thousands of American soldiers were landed during the war, and where hundreds of ships each year in peace time unload goods sent to England from America and other countries. There were miles and miles of docks and mountains of goods. Jack and Jane wondered how every thing was handled without all being mixed up and sent to the wrong place.

There were elevators from all parts of the world lying along the docks, too. Captain Brave pointed out boats that had come from Australia, South America, Canada, Italy and other places. From here the plane carried them to Wales.

Wales is a great mining country, where millions of tons of coal for use in England, are cut out of the ground each year," said Captain Brave. "If you little folks care anything about it we can go into one of the mines."

Jack and Jane said they would like to go—"If you and Ladydare go with us," added Jane.

So landing at one of the great mines, Captain Brave arranged with the superintendent to allow them to go down into one of the mines.

Not very many children have been in a mine so I'll tell you what happened to Jane and Jack.

First of all caps were fitted to their heads and little oil lamps were fastened to the caps.

"These are to furnish the light when we get far into the mine," said the man sent along to guide them.

Next, everybody climbed into a real small elevator which lowered them what seemed miles down into the ground. They electric lights were strung along the side of the hole down which they fairly dropped. Jack was afraid they would land on the bottom with a horrible thump. But they didn't.

Finally the little elevator stopped and all stepped out into a wide passageway.

Along the passageway ran a tiny railroad track. A train of dumpy little cars filled with coal went past them as they walked along the passage. A blinky-eyed donkey pulled the train. A young fellow, covered with coal dust until he looked like a negro, was driving the donkey and riding on the first car.

The guide told the children and their friends that this coal was hauled from rooms several hundred feet away to the elevators and then lifted out of the ground.

Jack wondered how any one could work all day under the ground the way the miners did without seeing any sunlight or even daylight. The air didn't smell good either.

The children were taken only a short way—to where a group of men were beginning to dig a new passageway through the coal. The guide told them that they could go farther without going into what he called "locks" where they would be forced to breathe air pumped in from outside and where they might be in danger from gas which leaked out of the ground sometimes.

I guess we'll have to leave the children in the mine until tomorrow, as I haven't room to tell you any more today.

WHO'S WHO IN THE DAYS NEWS

EARL OF LYTON

The Earl of Lyton, according to dispatches from London, is most often mentioned as ambassador to the United States to succeed Lord Reading. Earl Lyton, according to one correspondent is "almost certain to be named." His full name, as listed in Burke's, is Victor Alexander George Robert Bulwer-Lytton but he is of the new generation and shuns the elimination of the hyphen. He is forty-two years old, a forceful speaker, an athlete, and a non-partisan in politics.

Earl Lyton. The Countess of Lyton who was Lady Pamela Plowden of Sussex before her marriage in 1902 is one of the leaders of court society at Windsor castle. She dances Greek dances, writes verse and scorns the dictates of conventional fashion. At the opening of parliament, when the peeresses assembled, she appeared in a little rap of lace, breaking a tradition of custom by appearing without her stars.

There are two sons and two daughters in the Lyton household, Viscount Kneshworth born in 1903; the Hon. Alexander Bulwer-Lytton in 1910; Lady Margaret in 1908; and Lady Katherine in 1906.

Lord Lyton is a suffragist. On the rock of woman's rights he split with Winston Churchill. He is a deep student of economic conditions and lends his name to a society for food reform. The Lyton home is Kneshworth house, in London.

Every one of the Lyton family, according to the London Sketch, does something extremely well. Lord Lyton is an expert skater and Neville, a brother plays an unusual game of tennis and pursues a most rigorous vegetarianism. Mrs. Neville Lyton's toy dogs take all the blues at the shows in London. Lady Constance Lyton, a sister, went to jail rather than alter her opinions on suffrage. And Lady Lyton, says the Sketch "is extremely beautiful."

But he got a cut of apple pie out of the slot and devoured it with striking neat.

No high caste Brahman ever gave more striking evidence of his exalted position in life than the old codger who came in with a beleaguered flower—obviously his wife—for they never said a word. He blustered his way through the line at the coffee spout and got two cups, leaving a gold knobbed cane and a silk hat on the marble topped table.

At another table two young men in loose lips, poured over the race horse forms in the midnight edition of the Morning Telegraph. There was a feverish look about their eyes. Something told the observer that unless Wonder Girl or some other horse galloped in first the next day—two non-producers were going to be utterly broke.

A levy of chorus girls, with saucy red hats and high white shoes, only a few minutes away from their dressing rooms, ate indigestible steaks and onions and rapped the leading man. The table d'hôte black cat also rubbed against sympathetic ankles, and the aged old man mulling the Matrimonial News, hoarsely called out his papers. He always, with no attempt at humor, calls it the "Matrimonial Noose."

The billious yellow glare of the mercury lights, the clatter of innumerable dishes, the hum of voices, now and then a shout of laughter, the clang of street cars and honk of motors outside—all give a certain charm in this strange Metropolitan scene. With the rising cost of food it may not survive—nobody knows but it is going to have a busy life while it lasts.

Says the New York Tribune: "Robert Edison has left 'The Good Old Woman' and is now with 'The Woman in Moon Thirteen.' The handsome, debonair Robert should worry about wine and song."

A well known New Yorker dropped into his favorite liquid dispensary shop the other day to see if he could find a thrill or so in "The Old Oaken Bucket." "Arid Ale" or a "Sahara Flip" before taking his train to Connecticut. Since July 1 he has been trying a new soft drink every day. He ran into the proprietor who took him up to the bar. "I want you to try one of my light wine specialties," he invited. The New Yorker welcomed a change from soft drinks fairly gurgled his thanks. After a while, the bartender lifted the drinks from underneath the bar. Glasses were touched in mock formality of other days and both drank deep. The New Yorker soon began to struggle. He was drinking straight Scotch whiskey. He never liked it. According to the story told to me that was the proprietor's way of showing the bartender that this man was alright and in the future he could have what he wanted. I have also been told that there are innumerable saloons where you can get hard drinks with the same old shandies—if you are known to be "all right."

The Excelsiors clinched back into a tie with the Selbys for the league leadership Wednesday evening, when they romped past the wire with a handsome victory over the Selby warriors in an exciting and well played contest at the Friday street pasture. When hostilities were over, the score was 3 to 0.

Playing the classic sort of ball, and with oodles of confidence behind the superb twirling of their skillful mound artist, Josephus Danile, Barber, that wise old bird, the Excelsiors kept last night played right up to the hilt and put the contest on the right side of the ledger.

It was a dandy game, with every back of the day contested, Manager Joe Brennan and his pupils fighting hard over the entire route, but the good right arm of Manager Barber turned them back, joining after joining, and held them from seeing the plate.

The game was marked by some splendid fielding by the players of both teams, but the clever pitching of Barber was the real feature. He performed in his best style, working at top speed throughout and serving up a brand of foolery that the enemy batters had greatest difficulty in hitting. He allowed but four hits and set 7 of the opposition back on strikes, being strongest with runners on the paths. On several occasions he fanned Selby batsmen at critical times and at other times had them popping little flies to the infield, and just how effective he was is indicated by the score, which shows that not one of the Excelsiors outfielders had a putout, while the reverse is true of the other side. Wagner and Anderson in the Selby outer works kept busy chasing flies, they diving 12 of the 21 putouts.

Schweinsberg excelled in the field for the Selbys, his work around the hot corner being dilly, several of his pickups and throws being executed with neatness, while Cornutte, Horr and Barber put up a sturdy defense on the green, the latter contributing a fine catch when he took Kearns' foul in the first inning.

The Excelsiors scored their first run in the second, after both sides had gone out in order in the first. Barber, first up, whiffed a screaming hit that carried over Wagner's mound in left, and it was good for two sacks. Horr fled out to left, but Barber moved to third, while Row was being thrown out at first on his roller to third and came over a moment later when Row fumbled Kearns' easy grounder.

This proved to be sufficient, but a pair of tallies were counted in the third on hits by Hensge, Cornutte and Horr and an error by Stewart, and then they knocked off for the day, securing but one hit off Reinhard during the remainder of the fray, a single by Rollins to center in the fifth.

The Selby outfit only seriously threatened once, and this was in the sixth, when with one down Manager Brennan hit into right for a base and then Kearns smashed a hit into center, which got away from Bradford, and Brennan tried to score from first on the hit, but he was cut down at the plate by a perfect throw by Bradford to Barber, who banded the ball to Rollins in plenty of time. Spence was walked and Rollins took care of Schweinsberg's foul, retiring the side and leaving Kearns stranded at second. Cornutte's wild throw and a walk to Reinhard put two on off for two were down in the fifth, but Wagner fanned for the third out. The score:

The retirement fever, a bee always in the bonnets of Frank Baker and Duffy Lewis, has struck these two Yankees early. Both were out last week with announcements that this would be their last season in baseball. It's hard to sleep these hot nights without having to listen to that old stuff ringing in your ears.

What is believed to be a record in modern baseball was set by the Giants this season when they slugged their way through sixty-six games without being whitewashed a single game. THE MATTER OF ARMY STORES

THE lower house of congress has passed a resolution that Secretary Baker proceed to sell at once the reserve of army food stuffs.

It is perfectly proper for congress to take such action, but it should be done in a proper manner and not made the pretext for ill-timed and ill-considered partisan attacks upon that official for not having already disposed of the surplus.

It is also perfectly proper for Secretary Baker to disregard the resolution, if he so choose. That he will do it if he considers disposal in the time and the manner as set by his critics. For to dump the whole of the stores at once and by parcel post direct to the consumer is conjuring disaster and next to an impossible absurdity. The two will not work out together. The first would mean a panic and the latter would mean indefinite delay and a huge loss. By far the major portion of the food stuffs are in France. It would have been folly to have begun selling them until it became a fixed fact that peace was to follow the armistice. If they are to be disposed of in this country they will have to be brought back, and that will take months yet. It doesn't require any knowledge of economics to understand that if the whole lot were dumped on the markets at once there would be more harm than good done. Equally clear is it that to sell directly to the consumer means an infidelity of detail and preparation that will be long in working out.

Putting it up to Secretary Baker to follow the resolution and in the same breath finding fault with him for not having already let go of the food reserves is good partisan stuff. If he dumps them out all at once and thereby causes a heavy decline, dealers and farmers, along with those who go broke will blame him for their losses; if he doesn't why then who but he is responsible for the high cost of living. So far as the majority is concerned it is a game of "heads I win, tails you lose."

SOMETHING OF A CONTRAST

THESE are few remaining newspapers so intolerant in opinions of section and parties as the Chicago Tribune. Just now Chicago has gone "Democratic" according to the habitual preaching heretofore of the Tribune. In other words there is the color line being drawn sharply and murderously. Disorder and riot reign over the entire city and already approaching thirty killings have followed clashes between the whites and the Negroes. Therefore it is interesting to watch the course of the Tribune just now. It is singing mighty low and if the subject were not so grave we would say it is playing a comical part. On its first page it surmises the killing of twenty-five grown persons, with huge across-the-page scream over the murder of a little girl by a degenerate. On its editorial page the first article ferociously and relentlessly calls for the immediate and forthwith hanging of the child's murderer. In the second it refers in the most dulcet words to the fact that "the white and colored people are not living in harmony." Never a mention of killings, no denunciation of the mob spirit, no exhortation of cowardly and consenting officials, no demand that the murderers be made to pay for their foul and fiendish crimes—and in Chicago a mob did try to burn up the body of a murdered Negro by saturating it with gasoline and setting fire to the fluid. Instead of any of this there is the sweetest intimation that theories of equality and questions of justice are confronted by a fact and a condition and if the races can not get along in peace on the bathing beaches and street cars there will have to be separate beaches and different modes of transportation. In other words, the blacks will have to take what swimmers' hole the whites choose to allow them and as the whites will take the street cars, and accommodation trains, the blacks may ride Shanks' mare and may be a jitney, if they are altogether good.

Oh, no; we are not going to organize. What's the use?

PLENTY OF PELF, NO POLITENESS

CONCEIVING, perhaps, from some of its recent financial transactions, that the country is long on cash and knowing itself short on manners, the senate majority is unanimous in agreement that America shall pay Colombia twenty-five million dollars for fomenting the revolution that robbed her of Panama, and is also equally determined that the apology in the treaty, fixing the indemnity shall be eliminated.

May be Colombia is like the victim of any other highwayman. She feels that whatever she can get back is that gained and she will not hesitate to accept the paltry twenty-five millions. And really payment of an indemnity is, in effect, an apology, since it is a humiliating confession of a gross wrong done.

Yes, it would have made a mighty difference had the Reds won two on Tuesday and the Giants lost as many, but it didn't happen that way, and seldom does when a second placer is trying to overtake a first.

You can't always judge a man by what someone else says about him. Victor Berger says Samuel Gompers has for sometime been a fool of the capitalists. That's awful, too, but Gompers has survived worse, considering the source.

There are mobs and mobs, but our nominee for the total depravity sweepstakes is the Chicago one, which stormed a hospital because a Negro it had beaten near to death, was taken therein.

The amiable nature of the dear Mr. Taft must have been a bit ruffled by the cheap party friend, who gave away a letter he had written him in entire confidence so stated and enjoined.

It was fine in Governor Lowden to call those eight thousand troops to Chicago but why does he let them stand still while riot and murder go busily on?

It never gets so hot, but that it can get cooler, as witness Wednesday.

THE WISHING PLANE

When they stay in London was over the airplane whisked the children over to Liverpool, the great English seaport where thousands upon thousands of American soldiers were landed during the war, and where hundreds of ships each year in peace time unload goods sent to England from America and other countries. There were miles and miles of docks and mountains of goods. Jack and June wondered how every thing was handled without all being mixed up and sent to the wrong place.

There were steamers from all parts of the world lying along the docks, too. Captain Meece pointed out boats that had come from Australia, South America, Canada, Italy and other places. From here the plane carried them to Wales.

Not very many children have been in a mine so I'll tell you what happened to Jack and June. First of all caps were fitted to their heads and little oil lamps were fastened to the caps. "These are to furnish the light when we get far into the mines," said the man sent along to guide them.

Next, everybody climbed into a real small elevator which lowered them what seemed miles down into the ground. They electric lights were strung along the side of the hole down which they fairly dropped. Jack was afraid they would land on the bottom with a horrible thump. But they didn't.

Finally the little elevator stopped and all stepped out into a wide passageway.

Along the passageway ran a tiny railroad track. A train of dumpy little cars filled with coal went past them as they walked along the passageway. A blink-eyed donkey pulled the train. A young fellow, covered with coal dust until he looked like a negro, was driving the donkey and riding on the first car.

The guide told the children and their friends that this coal was hauled from rooms several hundred feet away to the elevators and then lifted out of the ground.

Jack wondered how any one could work all day under the ground the way the miners did without seeing any sunlight or even daylight. The air didn't smell good either.

The children were taken only a short way—to where a group of men were beginning to dig a new passageway through the coal. The guide told them that they couldn't go farther without going into what he called "looks" where they would be forced to breathe air pumped in from outside and where they might be in danger from gas which leaked out of the ground sometimes.

I guess we'll have to leave the children in the mine until tomorrow, as I haven't room to tell you any more today.

NEW YORK, July 31—Midnight in the Automat! Does not sound very intriguing, but it seems to be one of the high spots of the town at present with booze gone. All the world drifts through its revolving doors at night. Near the Globe theatre, in the heart of the Rialto, it is proving a common meeting ground for light and variety. The curious brood of night hawks—always partly faced and furtive with their glances—more in and out of the crowds. And I saw a noted millionaire there. Perhaps he was slumming.

EARL OF LYTON

The Earl of Lyton, according to dispatches from London, is most often mentioned as ambassador to the United States to succeed Lord Reading. Earl Lyton, according to one correspondent to "almost certain to be named." His full name, as recorded in Burke's, is Victor Alexander George Robert Bulwer - Lyton but he is of the new generation and makes on the distinction of the Lytons. He is forty-two years old, a forceful speaker, an athlete, and a non-partisan in politics.

Earl Lyton

The Countess of Lyton who was Lady Pamela Plowden of Sussex before her marriage in 1902 is one of the leaders of court society at Windsor castle. She dances. Greelander, writes verse and scores the dances of conventional fashion. At one opening of parliament, when the peeresses assembled, she appeared in a little cap of lace, breaking a tradition of custom by appearing without her tiara.

There are two sons and two daughters in the Lyton household, Viscount Kneshworth born in 1903; the Hon. Alexander Bulwer-Lyton in 1910; Lady Margaret in 1905, and Lady Katherine in 1909.

Lord Lyton is a suffragist. On the rack of woman's rights he split with Winston Churchill. He is a deep student of economic conditions and lends his name to a society for food reform. The Lyton home is Kneshworth house, in London.

Every one of the Lyton family, according to the London Sketch, does something extremely well. Lord Lyton is an expert skater and Neville, a brother plays an unusual game of tennis and pursues a most rigorous vegetarianism. Mrs. Neville Lyton's top dogs take all the blues at the shows in London. Lady Constance Lyton, a sister, went to jail rather than alter her opinions on suffrage. And Lady Lyton, says the Sketch "is extremely beautiful."

But he got a cut of apple pie out of the slot and devoured it with striking zest.

No high caste Brahman ever gave more striking evidence of his exalted position in life than the old codger who came in with a "newfangled" danger—obviously his "after" for they never said a word. "I've had a coffee" he said and two cups, tracing a gold knobbed cane and a silk hat on the marble topped table.

At another table two young men in cups, with cigarettes hanging from loose lips, poured over the race horse forms in the midnight edition of the Morning Telegraph. There was a feverish look about their eyes. Something told the observer that unless Wonder Girl or some other horse exploded in the first day—two non-producers were going to be entirely broke.

A horde of chorus girls, with saucy red hats and high white shoes, only a few minutes away from their dressing rooms, ate indigestible steaks and olives and rappee the leading man. The table of their black cut also rubbed against sympathetic smiles, and the aged old man selling the Matrimonial News, hoarsely called out his papers. He always, with no attempt at humor, calls it the "Matrimonial Noise."

The bluish yellow glare of the mercury lights, the clatter of innumerable dishes, the hum of voices, now and then a shout of laughter, the clang of street cars and bang of motors outside—all give a certain charm to this strange Metropolitan Mecca. With the rising cost of food it may not survive—nobody knows but it is going to

Says the New York Tribune: "Robert Edison has left 'The Good and Beautiful' and is now with 'The Woman in Room Thirteen.' The handsome, debonair Robert should worry about wine and song."

A well known New Yorker dropped into his favorite liquid dispensary shop the other day to see if he could find a thrill or so in "The Old Oakley Bunker," "Arid Air" or a "Saban Flip" before taking his train to Connecticut. Since July 1 he has been trying a new soft drink every day. He ran into the proprietor who took him up to the bar. "I want you to try one of my light wine specialties," he invited. The New Yorker welcomed a change from soft drinks fairly gurgled his thanks. After a while the bartender lifted the drinks from underneath the bar. Glasses were touched in mock formality of other days and both drank deep. The New Yorker soon began to shiver. He was drinking straight Scotch whiskey. He never liked it. According to the story told to me that was the proprietor's way of showing the bartender that this man was alright and in the future he could have what he wanted. I have also been told that there are innumerable saloons where you can get hard drinks with the same old abandon—if you are known to be "all right."

THE MOVIES

MARRIAGE NEVER SCARED A JUNK. George Walsh, the Athletic Thunderbolt in his latest Fox Comedy Drama, "Never Say Quit," at the Exhibit Today—Also Tom Mix in "A Roman Cowboy" and "Willard Dempsy" and "Fight Slides". George Walsh, the Dynamic William Fox star, will be the headline attraction at the Exhibit Theatre today in his latest action picture, "Never Say Quit." In this picture Walsh has the role of Reginald Jones, whose blood was always working overtime, always lagging at his heels, whether he was playing poker, getting married or hunting sunken treasure, and his many unlikely adventures all go to make this an unusually entertaining picture that you'll like. The second attraction on tomorrow's bill will be Tom Mix in a screaming War Fox two reel comedy called "A Roman Cowboy." In addition to these good pictures we will also show for today, one day only, 20 slide views of the Willard-Dempsey bout, depicting all the big punches of the fight. These pictures are not moving films, but are 20 still views (slides), the only pictures that it is possible to secure in this state. Best of all, there will be no advance in prices for this big program. Come early.
